

The Viter Ukrainian Dancers and Folk Choir are celebrating their 30th Anniversary with the premiere of Threads of Hope - Нитки надії, followed by a dedication to the past, present and future of Viter.

Threads of Hope showcases a theatrical production from a high-caliber Ukrainian performance ensemble combining dance, song, live instrumentation, original visual art, and poetry.

The story highlights Ukrainian resilience through the eyes of eight-year-old Nadia and her family, who are facing Russia's current invasion of Ukraine. Her father goes to fight, her teenage brother struggles with intense fear and anger, her Baba and Dido face severe health issues, and her mother strives to keep the family together. Through Nadia's perspective, we see the richness of Ukrainian culture and the stories and traditions that highlight resilience: courage, strength, love, joy, and above all, hope.
